USAJobs.gov saved search so the robots toil away in oblivion. has nobody told you? there's been a federal hiring freeze and almost everyone i know has lost their job. and those that haven't wait for the next fork in the road, threats promises to downsize "lower productivity jobs in the public sector". public sector".

new email.

I recently learned the spanish word, la tusa. it means the state of heartbreak i think i learned it so i could know what this feeling is robot, i love my public lands. do you know how many stairs i've built? how many trees i've planted? how many times i've been stung by hornets while pulling invasive plants? how many miles i've carried barbed wire?

while pulling invasive plants?
how many miles i've carried barbed wire?
how many boots i've blown out
and blisters i've gotten?
how many sick visitors i've carried up hills?
how many tears i've cried when i didn't think i could do a good enough job?

i've loved working for my public lands and i've always known i loved the NPS more then it would ever love me back, but robot. it hurts to see this.

The US Forest Service is firing about 3,400 recent hires while the National Park Service is terminating about 1,000 workers under Donald

Hi, my name is [NAME] and I'm a constituent from [CITY, ZIP CODE]. I would like to submit a comment and request a response. The mass termination of federal employees is illegal. It is being done under the guise that it's "performance based" but many of these employees have nothing negative on their performance evaluations, and neither are they following the proper procedures for a Reduction in Force. These mass terminations are impacting our most important civil servants that fight wildfires, conserve our public lands for future generations, and preserve our history for all. What is [SEN/REP] doing to end the illegal mass termination of federal employees? How are they going to reinstate those that have already been illegally terminated? What are they doing to bring back Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion programs so that our public lands can continue to have passionate public sector workers to protect our natural and cultural resources?
